

The North American on the Catechumenate

Invites you to an Online Webinar from the comfort of your own home, office or wherever you may be!

Making Christian Initiation Rural and Small-Town Friendly

Wednesday - May 30 - 2012

7 pm GMT (UTC), 3:30 pm Nfld, 3 pm AT, 2 pm ET,

1 pm CT, 12 noon MT, 11 am PT, 9 am HAST

(1 hour long live webcast)

Some ministers know Christian initiation very well but struggle to make it work in the rural and small-town setting. Others know rural and small-town life well but struggle to implement Christian initiation in a way that is faithful to the ritual text. This webinar will bring Christian initiation and rural/small-town ministry into a dialogue so the participants may become more confident in their efforts to apprentice others into the Faith in the rural or small-town parish.

Msgr. Clay is a pastor in the Diocese of Raleigh, NC. He has served the Church in parochial, diocesan and national ministry. He received his doctorate from The Catholic University of America in liturgical studies and focused on the adaptation of the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults in the rural and small-town setting. He has presented workshops in over 70 dioceses in the United States and Canada on the pastoral implementation of the Catechumenate and is the author of A Harvest for God: Christian Initiation in the Rural and Small-Town Parish, published by Liturgy Training Publications.

Program fee: $25 USD in advance for 1 registration. $10 for each additional person if listening/watching from the same computer.
